

YELLOWSTONE NATIONAL PARK TRIP IS CHIEF TOPIC FOR DISCUSSION IN BRISTOL AND NEARBY VICINITY

Leading merchants co-operating with this newspaper started a Better Times Drive today and will offer to the winner an all expense tour to Yellowstone National Park. The trip will be escorted.

This trip to Yellowstone is a co-operative effort of several newspapers of the state of Pennsylvania. Special entertainment features are to be offered the winners of similar contests from the various towns and cities of the state and the trip should be one of the most notable ever taken by a group of Pennsylvania residents.

The Better Times Contest is open to young ladies between the ages of 18 and 30, inclusive. A nominating coupon and the rules appear in today's newspaper.

The train will start from Philadelphia August 6 and winners residing in the western section of the state will join the party at Pittsburgh. They will arrive in Chicago early the following morning and a full day of entertainment will be provided. Sleeping cars, a club observation car and a diner will be equipped for the trip. Breakfast, lunch and dinner the next day will be on the diner.

The next morning the young lady contest winners will arrive at Yellowstone National Park. That day will be spent in a delightful motor trip to Old Faithful Lodge. There will be three or four days in Yellowstone, including Old Faithful, Grand Canyon and beautiful Yellowstone Lake, returning via Cody Road to Cody, Wyo.

The winner of the Courier Better Times Contest will have all expenses paid by the merchants and this newspaper. That includes her fare to Yellowstone and return. It includes her sleeper berth, her meals on the diner enroute and in Chicago. It includes even her tips to porters and waiters and also all the many delightful entertainment features that will make her trip one of the greatest pleasure.

This newspaper, co-operating with the committee of other Pennsylvania newspapers, has arranged a most elaborate entertainment program for the winners. It will be an outstanding opportunity for a girl from this community to have a marvelous trip this summer and likewise to acquire a real travel education.

Bristol merchants are co-operating with this newspaper in this Business Stimulator campaign. These merchants will give credit coupons with

FALLS TOWNSHIP PAYS $500, FIRE PROTECTION

Morrisville Quickly Rescinds Its Order to Firemen and Restores Service

INCREASE TOTALS $200

MORRISVILLE, June 17—Morrisville Common Council at a regular meeting voted to rescind its order issued a week ago and fire protection to residents of Falls Township was restored. The township supervisors notified Common Council that they would increase their donation from $300 to $500 a year and this offer was accepted. The protection was discontinued last week because the supervisors at that time refused to give more than $300. The local officials had asked $1,000 a year but were willing to compromise.

The tax collector turned over to the borough treasurer, $4,262.28 received from the county treasurer as back taxes which had been liened in the years 1930, 1931, 1932 and 1933. The collector also reported that the borough tax bills had been sent out earlier this year and there has been more than $1,000 taxes on this duplicate turned in already.

Council voted an additional $30 to

South Langhorne Students Take Trip to Harrisburg

SOUTH LANGHORNE, June 17—The eighth grade graduates of South Langhorne public school made an interesting, educational tour of Harrisburg and Gettysburg as the final completion of their elementary school course, Friday and Saturday. Their itinerary included the Cloisters at Ephrata, Cornwall Iron mines, the capitol, state museum, and educational buildings, Harrisburg; Hershey Chocolate factory and Hershey Park at Hershey. They then went to Gettysburg and made a complete survey of the battlefield. The tour was conducted by guides from the state Department of Property and Supplies, U. S. Dept. of Interior, the Hershey Chocolate Co., Miss Marie A. Lentz, and M. P. Hammond, principal of the school.

The pupils who went on the tour were: Dorothy Smith, Eleanor Fesmire, Thelma Koehler, Josephine Valeriani, Edward Balderston, Louis Colvelli, James Tivey, Joseph Borelli, Frank Bratby, John Bentley and Stanley Seifert.

PRESENT DIPLOMAS TO ST. MARK'S GRADUATES

James A. Quinn, Esq., Phila., Tells of Two-Fold Purpose of Commencement

AWARDS PRESENTED

In addition to the regular graduation exercises of St. Mark's School, the annual entertainment, participated in by the pupils of the eight grades, took place Saturday afternoon in the school auditorium. Annual awards were also made to the students meriting honors.

The seniors who received diplomas for completing the course were: Helen T. Burke, Angelina M. Cordisco, Frances E. Duffy, Mary M. Dugan, Mary M. Kelly, Agnes R. McCarhan, Gertrude T. Roe, Amelia M. Verrati, Ida M. Varrati, Raymond G. McGee, Edward J. McDevitt, James C. McCoy, Charles T. Walker, Joseph J. Whitaker and William J. Zimmerman. Miss Mary Jo McGee received a diploma as a post graduate.

The address of the afternoon was made by James A. Quinn, Esq., Philadelphia. Mr. Quinn, who was introduced by Rev. E. Paul Baird, explained the two-fold purpose of Commencement. He pointed out that it was a time to contemplate the past years covered and to organize courses for the years ahead. Stressing the importance of the day, the lawyer explained that education meant the development of the whole man, that it included intellectual development, acquisition of knowledge, and character formation. Continuing, the speaker advised the students to follow the logical truths, so that they might be able to meet and cope with the problems of today.

In conclusion, following his remarks of felicitations and congratulations, Mr. Quinn gave some timely advice to the graduates. He admonished them to always bear in mind the sacrifices of their parents in their acquirement of an education, to cling to the truths as taught them. In ending Mr. Quinn remarked, "Kind words that might have been said and were left unsaid and kind deeds that might have been done and were left undone—have brought more sorrows to human hearts than anything else."

Father Joseph Murphy, who presented the awards, instructed the students that their success or failure depended upon themselves. He told them that the measure of success consisted in doing each one's duty simply. He bade them always follow their parents' training.

Awards were bestowed upon the students by Rev. Murphy as follows: Diplomas for the completion of the course of study prescribed for St.

GRADUATES OF BRISTOL HIGH SCHOOL HEAR OF THE RESULTS 'WHEN HALF-GODS GO,' AS BACCALAUREATE SERMON IS DELIVERED AT BRISTOL M. E. CHURCH

The Rev. Norman L. Davidson Informs Where "Half-Gods" Lead the Shallow-Minded Devotees — Spurs Young Men and Young Women to Nobler Things

Members of Bristol high school, graduating class attended the morning service in the Bristol Methodist church yesterday to attend the annual baccalaureate service. The sermon was preached by the Rev. N. L. Davidson, pastor of the church.

The sermon theme was "When the Half-gods Go." The text was taken from Hebrews 6, verse 5, "And tasted of the Powers of the Age to Come." The Rev. Davidson spoke as follows:

"The writer of this text has in mind two groups of people. First, those who have had a great experience and then because of the shallowness of their nature they have forgotten. These, he says, are hopeless. Second, those who never could forget. It is of this second group that I am thinking this morning."

The first generation of Christians consisted chiefly of poor and unlettered folk. But something so remarkable had happened to them that they were spoken of as people who were trying to turn the world upside down. We now know that by their spiritual dynamic and the joyful proclamation of the good news of a living Lord, even under persecution, they did turn civilization into a new day.

"Tasted of the powers of the age to come!" These words are filled with the spirit of youth. The world may seem drab and tiresome to certain people, but here are those who, looking forward, are confident that just beyond the horizon there is the dawn which foretells a new world for men.

Many of us love to visit the ocean in summertime where we can sit by the hour and watch the great waves roll in and then as the tide ebbs to see them gradually recede again. There is a charm both in the flow and in the ebbing of the waters. So it is in life. The life that is mature and full of good deeds, grows old gracefully and is full of charm. But youth, in many ways, represents the high-tide of life beating against the shores of time and seeking for new outlets for its energies. We think of Shakespeare when he said—

"There is a tide in the affairs of men, which taken at it's flood, leads on to fortune. Omitted, all the voyage of this life is bound in shallows and in miseries."

FIREMEN DEMONSTRATE EFFICIENCY AT PICNIC

Cornwells Heights Captures Honors in Booster Contest and Sets Record

WATER BATTLE THRILLS

HULMEVILLE, June 17—An old-fashioned firemen's picnic sponsored by the Bucks County Firemen's Association was staged in the park here Saturday afternoon and attended by a large number of volunteer firemen from every section of Bucks County.

Following a short parade of apparatus and members of the women's auxiliaries in trucks, a number of contests were conducted and the firemen and their families dined on the spacious greensward of the park. There was bathing, boating and swimming for those who were not interested in the contests. Eighteen companies participated in the picnic.

The contests were opened with a thrilling water battle between firemen from the upper end of Bucks County represented by Quakertown and the firemen from the lower end represented by Langhorne. It was the best out of three rounds with the firemen in bathing suits and in boats. Quakertown won the trophy.

There was keen and close competition in the booster contest which was against time. Cornwells Heights No. 1 captured the laurels. Time: 9½ seconds. Time of other contestants: Plumsteadville, 19 seconds; Croydon, 10½ seconds; Dublin, 10½ seconds; Capitol View, Morrisville and Ivyland, 10½ seconds; Chalfont, 17 seconds. Plumsteadville made the best time in the pump and connection contest, using snap connections, doing it in 19 seconds. Dublin was second in 40 seconds. The pumpers using screw connections competed and the contest was won by Ivyland in the quick time of 29½ seconds; Chalfont, 32½; Croydon, 42.

Silver loving cups were the trophies presented to the winners in each of the events.

WITNESS EXERCISES

In attendance from Bristol last evening at the graduation of Mrs. Catherine Boyle's grandson, Leo, Philadelphia, from West Philadelphia Catholic Boys' High School, at Convention Hall were: Mrs. John Lawler, Miss Hannah Boyle, Miss Regina Peters, Patrick Boyle, Miss Mary Motz and Joseph Gallagher.

St. John's Service Is Held By Lodges of the District

The ninth annual union St. John's Service of the lodges of the fourth Masonic district, of Pa., F. & A. M. (colored), was conducted yesterday in St. James's Church at 2:30 p. m. This district is comprised of organizations in Ambler, Reading, Norristown, Ardmore, Pottstown, Jenkintown and Bristol. The Knights Templars of Philadelphia were guests of honor and acted as a body escort.

The most worshipful grand master of Pennsylvania, Leonidas Allen, Philadelphia, was the principal speaker, choosing as his topic, "Citizenship." He also gave some good advice on the uplift of the lodge. John C. Woodson, Ardmore, acted as master of ceremonies. The grand marshal of the Tri Lumium Lodge, Bristol, Elton Lindsay, was also present.

The Rev. George E. Boswell, rector of St. James's Church, met the body of men and welcomed the visitors.

Louis H. Willhite, treasurer and founder of the local organization, delivered a welcome also.

Mrs. Elton Lindsay was the soloist.

This is the first in six years that the service has been conducted here. Next year the organization will assemble in Reading for the celebration.

HULMEVILLE

Four were baptised at Neshaminy M. E. Church yesterday morning by the pastor, the Rev. T. William Smith, as follows: Ruth Marie, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Robert L. Sheppard, Camden, N. J., sponsors, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Herman; Eva Minerva, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Winder, Bristol Township, sponsor, Mrs. Frank Schantzbach; Edith Jeannette and Charles Arthur, children of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Martindell. A Children's Day program, postponed from the previous Sunday, was presented last evening by the boys and girls of the Sunday School. Recitations, songs and a sketch were the features, with the teachers directing.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Reeder, Elizabethtown, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Brown, on Friday.

Entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Early, yesterday, were Mr. and Mrs. John Buckley and daughter, Jane, Torresdale. A birthday dinner was served in honor of Mr. Buckley's anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Schantzbach and daughter Evelyn, Trenton, N. J., visited relatives and friends in this vicinity yesterday.

The Peppy Pals will be guests tomorrow evening of Mrs. C. Wesley Haefner.

ATTRACTIVE WEDDING IN HULMEVILLE CHURCH

Jacob V. Stockert Weds Miss Edith Dorothy Dicken In Neshaminy M. E. Church

USE RING CEREMONY

HULMEVILLE, June 17—At a nuptial ceremony which occurred in Neshaminy Methodist Church, Saturday at three o'clock, Miss Edith Dorothy Dicken, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George M. Dicken, became the wife of Jacob V. Stockert, son of Mrs. Coleman Kenderdine, of Langhorne. The ring ceremony was used, the officiating clergyman being the Rev. T. William Smith, pastor of the church.

The bridal party consisted of Miss Winifred A. Dicken and Miss Muriel Dicken, sisters of the bride, as maid of honor and bridesmaid, respectively; Ernest A. Dicken, brother of the bride, as best man; and George Bilger, a cousin of the groom, and Clifford Vansant, Middletown Township, an uncle of the groom, as ushers. The bride was given in marriage by her father.

Presiding at the organ was Miss Clara L. Illick, and the vocalist was Miss Winifred Dicken. As the bridal party entered the edifice Miss Illick played Lohengrin's wedding march, and Mendelssohn's wedding march at the conclusion of the ceremony. During the nuptial service "Before the Altar" was played as an organ solo. An organ recital by Miss Illick preceded the wedding service. The vocalist gave as her selections "O Promise Me" and "At Dawning."

The costume of the former Miss Dicken was of white lace, a form-fitting model featuring a stand-up collar, long sleeves and a train. At either side of the neck-line were clusters of pearls. Her turban-off head-dress featured a nose-veil, and from the back fell the long veil of tulle with trim of satin rose-buds. Her arm bouquet was composed of white roses and valley lilies.

The attendants of the bride wore costumes alike in design, the maid of honor being attired in blue; and the bridesmaid in pink. The dresses were of mousseline de sole with jackets made entirely of ruffles and having elbow-length sleeves. Lace mitts, and turbans with nose-veils matching their costumes were worn, and slip-

CONSTITUTION TODAY IS AS GOOD AS DAY IT WAS WRITTEN

Judge Boyer Drives Home Fact It Protects Property and Rights of Citizens

"LOVE FOR THE FLAG"

Tendency Today of Theorists and College Professors Is To Meddle With Constitution

Judge Calvin S. Boyer, Doylestown, was the principal speaker at the dedication ceremonies of St. Ann's Athletic Association club house, Wood street, Saturday afternoon. The dedication exercises followed a short parade in which American Legion Cadets, members of the Bristol Democratic Club, Sons of Italy, Italian Mutual Aid Society, and others participated.

The speakers, four in number, were introduced by S. Joseph Alta, Jr., an active member of St. Ann's Club, and the quartet included: Judge Boyer, Dr. J. Fred Wagner, president of Bristol borough council; J. Leslie Kilcoyne, Esq., and I. Johnston Hetherington, who represented Robert W. Bracken Post, American Legion.

Judge Boyer in his address, which stirred all who heard him, spoke in most urgent tones of the need of deep-seated honor and love for the American flag, and of support of the Constitution of the United States of America.

The fact that the Constitution protects the property and rights of the American citizen was driven home, the judge telling that "Today that law is as good as the day it was written."

The present-day dangers to the Constitution and likewise to the flag were spoken of, these menaces being enumerated. "One of the dangers regarding our great flag is that many don't understand what it means. Every citizen of this country should understand what the flag means, and what the Constitution is all about. . . . Today there is a tendency on the part of theorists and college professors to meddle with the Constitution. Oh, of course, you don't hear them say 'Let's destroy the Constitution.' They say 'Let's amend the Constitution. Let's change this and that.' And soon we won't have that fine document if they have their way. We'll only have a substitute."

That some amendments from time to time are necessary was mentioned by the eminent judge. The necessary amendments are due to changing conditions in the country at large he informed. "But it behooves us to watch very closely when suggestions are made that we amend the Constitution. Let us guard it. . . . 'If I've helped anybody here to love and honor that flag, and to uphold our Constitution better in the future, I'll consider my time with you well spent.'"

Judge Boyer also reviewed for the gathering the recent decision of the Supreme Court on the National Recovery Act, and the manner in which the Constitution had been upheld.

Dr. Wagner spoke of the strides made by the St. Ann's A. A. in recent months, and of the general improvement in appearance of that particular part of the borough with the erection of the club-house and the attractive manner in which the grounds were laid out.

In his brief remarks Mr. Kilcoyne spoke of appreciation of the fellowship and co-operation of clubs of this type in the community; and Mr. Hetherington voiced similar sentiments.

POLITENESS IN WAR

It is said of the Western world that public manners become more and more deficient. Perhaps it is the automobile and other agencies of speed that make us that way. Anyhow, we should consider the Japanese. Even in the making of war they are so polite that they make and complete a war while the Western world thinks that they are just having a friendly cup of tea with China. Mussolini could learn much from some of the gentlemen at the Tokio war and foreign offices.

Needless to say, Japan always takes sugar with her tea. She took a large lump when she took Manchuria; still she did it with such a flourish of diplomatic manners that nobody but the members of a League of Nations committee remarked either the size of the lump or the manner of the taking. And, of course, a single committee, even though league-appointed, can not get itself heard when the chancelleries of the Western world are busy in their counting rooms.

So Japan, it appears, is now inviting herself to another tea party in China's home. Before the party is over China may have been prevailed upon to yield some of her choice treasures. But one may be sure that Japan will not forget her manners no matter what difficulties she may encounter. It must be almost a pleasure to have territory taken from you by such a polite maker of war.

PEACE IN THE JUNGLE

The Chaco is a wild, remote region and few Americans know or care much about either Bolivia or Paraguay. The issues in that fierce three-year war in the jungle have been obscure to us in the North, although it is generally understood that there is oil in the Chaco and that land-locked Bolivia wants, and has wanted for years, an outlet to the sea. To most of America and to most of Europe, this has been simply a little war of little countries. So peace in the Chaco probably will not arouse much jubilation in the world at large.

Settlement of this war is of real importance to the world, however. Aside from humanitarian consideration of a hundred thousand lives already sacrificed and of thousands more saved by cessation of hostilities, there are other reasons for hailing peace in the Chaco. One is the prospect of final adjudication of a territorial controversy which has menaced South American peace since 1879. Another is the success of five neutral American nations, including the United States, as mediators. Geneva dispatches report jubilation in League of Nations circles over success of these Western Hemisphere mediators.

Inasmuch as the league had labored long and in vain for Chaco peace, reactions at Geneva prove that league officials properly are more concerned with triumph of conciliation and arbitration than with the diplomatic agencies through which that triumph comes.

If Papa Dionne will just be patient, his big chance is ahead. In another 20 years he can command a voting bloc.

ECHOES OF THE PAST

By Courier Staff Member

Review of the news as it appeared in the Bucks County Gazette issued at Bristol, Dec. 11, 1873. The Gazette, a weekly newspaper published in Bristol, was discontinued following its merger with the Courier.

Last Monday morning policeman Lindsey and another officer of the Philadelphia force, arrested a man in Holmesburg, on suspicion of having carried off the carpenter tools belonging to Mr. Charles York and others. Lindsey left the man in charge of the other officer and came to Bristol to get proof to identify him as the thief, but during his absence the supposed burglar managed to effect his escape and has not since put in his appearance. Some of the tools were recovered at Torresdale.

Mrs. W. Hastie Smith, of Andalusia, while riding with her three children on Saturday last, met with a severe accident in consequence of the shafts being practically detached from the axle, which caused the horse to run away and throw out all the occupants of the carriage. Mrs. Smith had her arm broken and received a severe cut entirely around one side of the head, narrowly escaping instant death. The children were uninjured.

Theodore Martin, of Newportville, while on his way from Doolington to Summerville, Thursday evening last, was walking along by the side of a wagon, a man threw his arms around his neck from behind, while another dealt him a blow which rendered him insensible for several minutes, after which they took his pocketbook, containing $30, and decamped.

Abel Mautsburly, a well-known citizen of Middletown township, residing near Oxford, while riding on a load of corn stalks last Thursday, fell to the ground and broke his thigh. He is doing well under the treatment of Dr. Dingee, of Newportville.

Mr. John B. Carroll, teacher of the Warmistler middle school, has taken the initiative step toward decorating the school room with mottoes, pictures, etc. We believe Mr. C. is the only teacher of this section—with perhaps the exception of the lady teacher of the Prospect Hill school—who has adopted this feature though the practice has been extensively adopted elsewhere.

The Hartsville Horse Company held a meeting at the hotel of Elias Krewson, at which they had quite a lively time. The President, Mr. Hugh J. Carroll, was fined $10 for remissness of duty. Mr. Carroll paid the fine and immediately resigned his office. Following the President's example, many of the members resigned. Seeing that such a course would break the company, the motion was reconsidered and the fine remitted unanimously. This finding the President was considered a most unjust proceeding, for in no one particular was Mr. Carroll recreant.

Graduates of Bristol High Hear Sermon Delivered

prize of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus.

A short time ago a book appeared with the title, "When Half-Gods Go." These words are a quotation from a poem which reads—

"When half-gods go,
The gods arrive."

These words are so appealing to my mind that I offer them to you for your graduation message.

Glance backward, for a moment, across the years to that wonderful morning of the world when Abraham turned his back upon his home in Ur of the Chaldees. He turned his back upon the polytheistic practices and the superstitious ideas of his kindred. His home must have, indeed, inspired him to look for better things. But this only left him unsatisfied with the half-gods which they worshipped. It was high-tide in the history of the human race when he went out, "not knowing whither he went" we are told, "but he looked for a city that had foundations, whose builder and maker was God." When the half-gods go, God arrives.

In this connection one necessarily thinks of the greatest statesman that ever lived. We know him by the name of Moses. This man carried the pain of his people in his heart until it would not let him rest any longer. You say that he was educated in Egypt! Yes, but true understanding came when brooding in the silence of the wilderness a flaming bush spoke to him in the accents of the Eternal. Tasting the power of an age to come, he went forth to free his people. He believed that God would guide him, but also he was convinced that it was better to try for freedom and fall than to sit safely among the sheep forever. We need not trace his later experiences here. Suffice it to say that he molded a race of slaves into a nation, and at the same time grounded them in a great religious faith that remains unshaken to the present day. He struggled day and night against the half-gods of his people, but at the same time his own acquaintance with God grew. What a picture we have of this man brooding alone among the clouds on Mt. Sinai. He learned that God was a God of law and not of caprice. When he came down with the ten commandments written on tablets of stone he found that the people had built a golden calf and were worshipping it. (By the way that was not the last time that people have worshipped gold.) But the new vision of the man of God

The regular monthly meeting of the Bristol Exchange and Board of Trade was held last Tuesday evening. The chairman of the committee on water-works, Mr. L. A. Hoguet, made a report stating that he had opened a correspondence with the Holly Company, asking them to give estimates for constructing water-works according to their system. He also states that a New York firm would erect works here and take twenty-five per cent. of the cost in stock. Mr. Hoguet thought that the correct plan of proceeding was to see whether the necessary funds could be raised for the construction of works before going to the expense of determining which plan was the best suited for Bristol, and he therefore moved that a committee of nine be appointed by the chair to prepare a circular headed "An Appeal for Water-works," with instructions to direct a copy to each person in the town that goes to the post-office for their mail; that a copy be placed in every house in town and ascertain who will take water and who will take stock. The president appointed the following gentlemen to serve on the committee: L. A. Hoguet, William Kinsey, J. B. Meers, Charles E. Scott, Arthur Collins, A. F. Young, Dr. E. J. Groom, Joseph Swain, and J. Wesley Wright.

Last Thursday afternoon a gold locket valued at about $30, mysteriously disappeared from the photograph gallery of Mr. J. H. Bostwick. Suspicion pointed to three men who were in the gallery during the afternoon and on Friday morning they were arrested, but as no evidence could be found against them they were soon after discharged.

Carpenter, alias Chapman, who was arrested at Trenton, N. J., last Thursday for presenting a forged check for $8,000, and a forged letter of credit to the bank at Doylestown, was handed over last Monday to the authorities of Bucks County, on a requisition from this state.

HULMEVILLE—On Monday evening the monthly meeting of the Agricultural and Horticultural Society was held. The meeting was spirited and interesting. Mr. E. G. Harrison read a very interesting essay on Fences, and the President read a paper on the Profit of Poultry Raising by Richard Hulme, of Bristol township, which was discussed at some length and was admitted to be very valuable in its points. The display was not very large, but very choice. Some fine Dutchess pears, by Richard Hulme; Peckless potatoes by Mrs. Yates; a stalk of cabbage with seven heads from John Johnson; some fine parsnips from Ed. Mitchell, and some curious freaks in corn.

The half-gods of pleasure also leads its shallow-minded devotees in the mad dance of doom along our highways. (56,000 were killed and nearly a million injured in 1934). Then there is a narrow and proud nationalism, the only religion which many of our people know. Sectarianism is a half-god which keeps so many of our good people from that church unity which is so greatly needed by the world today. Even science may be a half-god, and education without spiritual foundations may be a little god upon which some depend for their journey into the promise land. When will these half-gods go? That, I am convinced, depends upon the youth of the rising generation. Great changes are bound to come but it is your part to see to it that all changes mean the departure of evil forces and the coming in of the true God himself.

I am thinking of the words of Alfred Tennyson, sometimes called "the poet of faith in an age of science." The new science was upsetting so many of the customs and ideas of his day. He said—

"The old order changeth, yielding place to new,
And God fulfills himself in many ways."

Least one good custom should corrupt the world."

In these days in which we live there are, in my opinion, more signs of world upheaval, and a deeper uncertainty of what is to come out of it all than at any time since the close of the feudal system at the break of the Middle Ages. It is quite plain to most people that the World War was the end of an epoch in the history of the human race. Most people also see that it was the beginning of a long period of suffering, of trouble, and unrest. But many people do not yet see that out of this period of instability—which will last, with intervals of fairly good times of course, perhaps twenty-five, perhaps fifty or even one hundred years, depending upon the wisdom of our leaders and the Christian faith of our people—will come an entirely different world from what we now have. For a whole generation and more the churches have been emphasizing Jesus teaching about the sacredness of human personality. It was that idea which caused the system of slavery to fall.

Then when we turn our eyes to politics, we seem to see the very foundations of the nations shaking as in the days of Rome. And as usual, when people lack faith and don't know what to do, there is a return to autocracy, dictatorship, and resulting violence. These dictators with their supporters who face backward are desperately trying to hold up the tottering pillars of their national states. They are bound to fail. The ferment of the ideals of democracy which our fathers instilled into the race is sure to prevail. Blind leaders cannot forever repress the groping of oppressed peoples as they stretch forward their hands toward the light. When will God arrive?

Now the question which youth are beginning to ask is, "What can we do about it?" Looking across the seas we see how youth in many lands have taken things into their own hands. It is the youth of Germany who have most enthusiastically rallied to the support of Hitler. The power of Mussolini lies in his Fascist youth. The Japanese fascist party is that half-gods cannot survive. They must go.

But now perhaps I should put in a word of warning. It is this. Don't turn aside from the old simply because it is old. The wise man clings to the old until he finds that which is better.

You have a street in Bristol called Mill street. The name reminds me of the old mills of my childhood days. Sometimes today in summer wanderings I discover the ruins of these old mills along laughing streams, hidden away behind hills or far down some quiet valley. Most of you simply classify such a sight with things that have passed away. But to others of us they awaken memories of joy and beauty and feelings that bring tears to the eyes. Some of you older men and women may recall the song—

I wandered today to the hill, Maggie,
To view the scene below,

The creek, and the creaking old mill,
Maggie,
Where we sat in the long, long ago.

The green grove is gone from the hill,
Maggie,
Where first the daisies sprang;

The old rusty mill is still, Maggie,
Since you and I were young.

But now to be practical, we must ask: "Why has the mill gone into decay?" The answer is, "because man has found a better and a cheaper way of meeting his need for bread." The old mill cannot compete with the new mill which now feeds the nation. But the old mill was a stepping stone to something better. So never laugh at old things. You never would have anything new if you did not first have the old. Then there are some old things you will always need. The water and the wheat are the same today as yesterday when the miller ground his grist. And God remains who led our fathers out of past wildernesses.

Yes, forget or laugh at the old prejudices, the old greed, the old feuds which like millstones about the neck have been destroying the people and will never permit a new age to be born. Then remember that God will arrive only when these half-gods are gone.

But now you may ask, what about this day in which we live? What are some of these half-gods, and when will they go? Of course you know that thousands still follow the golden calf. The chain letters are the evidence of such worship at present. Then there are the brewers and the munition makers and all who would sell their souls and the souls of their neighbors for cash.

The half-god of pleasure also leads its shallow-minded devotees in the mad dance of doom along our highways. (56,000 were killed and nearly a million injured in 1934). Then there is a narrow and proud nationalism, the only religion which many of our people know. Sectarianism is a half-god which keeps so many of our good people from that church unity which is so greatly needed by the world today. Even science may be a half-god, and education without spiritual foundations may be a little god upon which some depend for their journey into the promise land. When will these half-gods go? That, I am convinced, depends upon the youth of the rising generation. Great changes are bound to come but it is your part to see to it that all changes mean the departure of evil forces and the coming in of the true God himself.

And as usual, when people lack faith and don't know what to do, there is a return to autocracy, dictatorship, and resulting violence. These dictators with their supporters who face backward are desperately trying to hold up the tottering pillars of their national states. They are bound to fail. The ferment of the ideals of democracy which our fathers instilled into the race is sure to prevail. Blind leaders cannot forever repress the groping of oppressed peoples as they stretch forward their hands toward the light. When will God arrive?

Now the question which youth are beginning to ask is, "What can we do about it?" Looking across the seas we see how youth in many lands have taken things into their own hands. It is the youth of Germany who have most enthusiastically rallied to the support of Hitler. The power of Mussolini lies in his Fascist youth. The Japanese fascist party is a youth party. Chinese youth are saying that if to be a great nation we must have military power, we will break with all our traditions, copy the methods of the West and build a war machine. In other words it is the youth in these other countries which has seen and felt the suffering of the people and has determined to do something about it. Now the tragedy is that the age which they foresee is one in which God is left entirely out of the picture. It seems that the East is calling in the half-gods of the West to help them become great. Now what about our American youth? I know that thousands of the youth of our churches are turning to God for light. Many have tasted of the power of the age to come and loyal to Christian principles are beginning to speak out. But the majority of the youth of our churches seem quite content to drift. They seem satisfied if they have money to go to the movies, to buy gasoline, or in other ways to keep up with the Joneses.

When the poet Wordsworth thought he saw a new era of democratic government dawning in the world, he said—"Great is it in this day to be alive, but to be young is very heaven." So if ever in history we needed young people to be intellectually and spiritually awake, it is today. The promise of the future must lie with the Christian youth.

Someone has said that a great many Christian people should have a sign put over their doors—"Needed—A capacity for irritation." Not the kind of irritation that a little girl felt when she was told to stop playing mud-pies and keep her dress clean. She was quite angry as she protested that Mary's mother allows her to play with mud-pies. The next day she met Mary and said to her, "Mary, I wish I had a nice dirty mother like you have."

Then there is a certain age when girls, and boys, show a great capacity for irritation when they are asked to dust the furniture in the parlor and dining room. However the time soon comes, at about the age of some of you here, when you bring in the boy with those wonderful eyes, or that girl with that ravishing smile, you are terribly irritated if there is some dust on the furniture in the room where you want to sit. Now the process of Christian growth will mean that you develop a capacity to become irritated at the dirt which you find in society, at profane or foul conversation, at graft in politics, and at all impurity in the individual and social life.

But sometimes we hear you ask, "What is right?" In days of rapid change it is hard to keep our bearings. As this "world goes spinning down the ringing grooves of change," we find it hard to say in some cases just what is wrong. Perhaps it would be well for you to stop asking that question for a while. And for a short time ask, not "Is it right?" but "Is it worth while?" Am I giving my days and my nights to a worth-while task, or only to a petty mass of trivial details. For as Dr. W. H. P. Faunce says, "The trouble with our lives is not that they are vicious but that they are so often trivial. Our great danger in this complicated modern world is not loss of conscience, but loss of perspective; not that we will surrender to open evil, but that we will be gradually and insensibly submerged in the clutter of fairly good things that do not matter. The danger in our American schools is not that students will become false-hearted, but that they will become scatter-brained." Virtue does not consist in keeping out of things, but in getting into things that are worth-while.

Now this leads me back to where I began. If we must, like Abraham, go out into a changing world not knowing where we are going. We may at least be sure that the points of the compass have not changed. God is still God and right is still right. "To doubt would be disloyalty, to falter would be sin."

It is very easy to become "de-Americanized" by the pagan half-gods that fill the air around us. There is a North Star, however, by which we may safely steer our lives. That star is found in the life and teachings and death of a young man who was born in Nazareth, a little town of a little province in the great Roman Empire. He turned his back upon the tribal god which his countrymen were worshipping. He confronted the narrowness and folly of his day with a new vision of God. He made human kindness central. He set character to music. To him the future beamed as it does to us today and he drew such a picture of the Kingdom of God on earth that human hearts will never rest until they have made that picture a reality. And although the world still spins with change his star shines and will forever shine undimmed as a guide to those who taste of the power of the age to come.

Have you read the story of Robert Bruce, the Scotch hero, how when he was dying he gave as his last command, "Bury my heart in the Holy Land?" It is said that in the future whenever his followers were hard pressed in battle and were about to be defeated the leader would take the heart of Bruce and throwing it far ahead into the ranks of the enemy he would shout, "Follow the heart of Bruce." So they went on to victory.

Dear young friends, the world in which you are called to live is not a soft world. I almost tremble for you as you go forth, either to more school, or to work, or to a long march for work. But do not let your vision grow dim or the light of faith go out of your eyes. Turn your backs upon the half-gods which make rosy promises of happiness and then lead only to despair. Follow the heart of Jesus. And, as through Him you taste of the power of the age to come, the world, including your own lives shall be saved.

I close with a poem, "The Look Ahead," written by Edwin Markham on his eightieth birthday. I wish I could read them as I have heard him read them. But these words you can make your own only as you experience the message of the text this morning.

"I have done with the years that were: I am quite;
I am done with the dead and old.
I am done with the dead and old.
I have saved their grain of gold.
Now I turn to the future for wine and bread;
I have bidden the past adieu,
I laugh and lift hands to the years ahead;
Come on: I am ready for you!"

mentioning the manner in which fine sportsmanship was brought to the fore.

A silk American flag, the gift of Anthony Russo, was presented to the association by his daughter, Miss Marie Russo. The speech of acceptance was by Patsy Moffo, president of St. Ann's A. A. In accepting the banner Mr. Moffo said "On behalf of our organization I desire to thank the donor, Mr. Anthony Russo, for having offered this emblem as a gift to us, this emblem which embodies every ideal and virtue that we cherish."

In his opening remarks the presiding official, Mr. Alta, warmly welcomed the gathering. He told of the services which the St. Ann's Association is striving to render the community. "The object of our body may adequately and very concretely be unfolded in the following epitome derived from our by-laws: This group shall be comprised of men of Italian extraction; it shall be an organization which shall actively participate in athletics; it shall be an organization which shall enable its members, by constructive means, to develop their mental and physical faculties that they may be men who will possess sound bodies and whose minds will so develop that they may be better equipped to rationalize, and think only on a higher stratum, morally." We have arranged these exercises, on this day because of its immediate proximity to our nationally recognized Flag Day.

The fine new club-house was opened for inspection. It was recently built at a cost of $10,000. The speakers' platform had been arranged on the front porch, and loud-speakers carried the voices also to those seated on their porches on adjacent streets.

The structure, 30 x 40 feet, is built on a lot 150 x 300 feet. The brick building has two stories. Tennis courts and three bocce alleys are located at the rear of the building, and a volleyball court is to be placed.

A crowd of close to 500 gathered early in the evening to witness the boxing events held in the temporary ring erected in the rear of the building. Four no-decision contests were fought. "Johnny" Straffe and Louis "Kid" Tullio mixed it up in the first bout with Ardo Straffe, and "Kid" Quici in the second. "Bullets" Indelicato and "Dundee" Raccagno were participants in the third bout, while in the wind-up, "Sammy" and "Eddie" Moffo traded blows. "Mickey" Giordano was the referee with Patsy Moffo, timekeeper.

A bocce tournament followed with the teams of the Penn-Jersey Bocce League participating. The Bristol Democratic Club won the event with the Bristol Bocce Club finishing a close second.

Nelson Green defeated Herbert Lawrence in the single sets of tennis while in the doubles Lawrence and Wilson stopped Green and Alta. After the sporting events, dancing followed until a late hour.

Yellowstone Trip is Chief Topic for Discussion Here

Any young women, between the age limits mentioned, of good character, residing in this county may enter, but the committee reserves the right to reject any nomination. No direct relative of any one employed on this newspaper may become a candidate.

The merchants are offering this handsome trip prize with the avowed purpose of increasing the trading in Bristol and to create more and better business during the months of June and July. They expect the contestants to urge their friends to purchase from stores participating in the campaign and to save their votes for them.

It is not a popularity contest in the ordinary sense of the word. It is a contest where the contestant will obtain the best results by personal work in urging the co-operation of friends. It started today and it will end July 27, 1935.

The full list of rules and regulations in today's issue. The merchants who have already signified their intention to participate in the Better Times campaign and issue credits in the contest are given below. There may be a few additional join before next week. If you are within the age limits send in your own nominating coupon, and start to work lining up your friends. If you are not eligible yourself, nominate some girl within the age limits and tell her you will be glad to help. It's going to be a great trip and the girl who wins will have an experience very much worth while.

The list of the participating merchants follows:

Robert C. Weik, General Electric Refrigerators, Heating and Plumbing, 200 Mill Street; Levinson's United Cut Rate, Drugs, 127 Mill Street; George J. Irwin, Old Company Lehigh Coal, 224 Buckley Street; Smith's Model Shop, Ladies' and Misses' Fine Clothes, 412 Mill Street; Spencer & Sons, Furniture, Rugs and Linoleum, Mill and Radcliffe Streets; Shoemaker & Sons, Lumber, Mill Work, Tullytown; Vandegrift's Men's Shop, Haberdashers, Mill and Pond Streets; F. E. Baylies, Jeweler and Watch Maker, 307 Mill Street; Fandazzo, Electric Service Station, Farragut Avenue; Marty Green's Army & Navy, Mill Street; Barton & Torano, Gasoline and Oil, Pond Street above Walnut; Artesian Products Co., Building Material, Washington and New Buckley Streets; Woler's, Paint and Wallpaper, Mill Street; Joe Mintzer, Service Station, Edgely; Abe Popkin, Fine Footwear, 418 Mill Street.

— RULES —

- 1.—Election starts Monday, June 17, 1935.
- 2.—Election ends 10 p. m., Saturday, July 27, 1935.
- 3.—Election votes are given on the basis of 100 votes for each even dollar of cash paid to participating merchants as follows:
 - (a) On all counter cash and C. O. D. purchases.
 - (b) On all cash payments made on open account purchases made prior to 10 p. m., July 27, 1935.
 - (c) On all cash down payments and installment payments made on time-payment accounts during the election period, regardless of when the purchase was made.
- 4.—Votes will be given only on strictly retail business—that is, quantity purchases of commodities to industrial concerns, or wholesale purchases by merchants are NOT to be included.
- 5.—The election is open to young ladies between the ages of 18 and 30, both inclusive, of Bristol and surrounding territory, but employees of participating merchants and the Bristol Courier are barred.
- 6.—Prize is to be a free trip to Yellowstone National Park.
- 7.—Nominating blank published in the Courier is good for 1,000 votes, but only one lot of 1,000 free votes will be credited by any one candidate.
- 8.—Right is reserved to reject any nomination by the Merchants' Committee.
- 9.—Votes may be mailed to Election Director, Bristol Courier, or placed in the official ballot boxes located at the stores of the participating merchants.
- 10.—Judges will be appointed by the merchants and their decision in all matters will be final.
- 11.—Merchants participating in the election agree not to allow any of their employees to exert any undue influence in favor of any candidate.
- 12.—Buying of votes by any firm in behalf of any candidate, or distribution of votes by any other method than according to the above rules is expressly prohibited.

ward the community nursing service in order that the goal may be reached. A previous donation of $50 had been voted. Council also voted to accept the plan of the State Highway Department in the removal of the canal bridge. The State is willing to remove bridge and pay for the placing of a concrete roadway there providing there is no grade crossing. The highway department has submitted a new plan whereby the coal for the Tattersall Company can be hauled in small cars under the roadway. It is this plan that the borough approves.

Permission was voted to permit the anything that will prevent a Bristol ice cream dealer from selling his goods in Morrisville. At the previous meeting there was a petition from the local ice cream dealers asking Council to prohibit this dealer from selling in Morrisville. The matter was laid over.

SHAW WINS RACE BUT TIME IS SLOW

LANGHORNE, June 17—After two of the speediest cars on the track had been forced to the pits and after driving under the yellow flag nearly one-fifth of the way, Ben Shaw, Westville, N. J., speedster, roared to victory in the 50-mile feature at Langhorne Speedway yesterday afternoon.

Shaw won in the slow time of 38 minutes, 6 4-5 seconds in the same car that the late Johnny Hannon drove to victory at Langhorne on May 12. A crowd of 35,000 persons was in attendance.

Yesterday's races, from the standpoint of thrills and competition, were somewhat of a disappointment. Many in the crowd that came to cheer Kelly Petillo, winner of the Indianapolis classic, stayed to boo the champion after he stole the lead in the second heat and then dropped out. He attempted to explain over the amplifiers that his car broke a driving rod, but was interrupted by the well known razzberry. The fiery little Italian from Los Angeles grew incensed at the insult and shouted that he would give $50 to anyone who could prove that his car did not break down. The crowd refused to be satisfied.

Two Trentonians got started during the afternoon, but failed to get anywhere in the final. Sam Castranova managed to place second in the heat for non-winners, but headed for the pits in the 50-mile feature after a half-dozen laps. His car was not in the same class with the leaders. The other Trenton boy, George Sholtis, got nowhere fast in the non-winners' heat and dropped out with motor trouble.

Shaw drove well, but undoubtedly would have scored no better than third had not Mauri Rose coasted to the pits and Doc MacKenzie's mount acted up. Once in the lead, Shaw nursed his car along cleverly and won with plenty to spare.

Chet Gardner, of Long Beach, Cal., placed second in the 50-mile grind. Walt Brown, of New York, took third and Freddy Wynn, of Philadelphia, fourth. Only six of the 16 starters finished.

The first 10-mile heat was undoubtedly the best attraction of the afternoon. Rose, the little Jewish rider from Dayton, Ohio, jumped into the lead at the outset and set a dizzy pace. Ken Fowler challenged repeatedly, but was forced to stop when his goggles were shattered. MacKenzie took up the task of chasing the leader, but Rose's car packed too much pep. Petillo could do no better than snare fifth in this event. The winner's time of 6:13 set a new track record for the distance.

Rose started off in a similar manner in the 50-mile feature and was slowly increasing his advantage when his motor went haywire on the 18th lap. MacKenzie slipped into the lead, with Shaw at his heels. The strain proved too much for Doc's car and when the leader faltered, the Westfield racer took the lead never to relinquish it.

Shortly after the half-way mark was passed, Len Perry lost control of his car, going into the turn of the back stretch and crashed through the outside fence. Perry was uninjured, but the car was wrecked. So large a crowd of thoughtless fans rushed to the scene that the referee was forced to give the drivers the yellow flag for the sake of safety. The field rode for nearly 10 laps before the track was clear enough to open up the throttles again.

The summaries:

First heat, 10 miles, for eight fastest cars: Won by Mauri Rose, Dayton, Ohio; second, Doc MacKenzie, Edgington, Pa.; third, Ben Shaw, Westville, N. J.; fourth, Chet Gardner, Long Beach, Cal. Time, 6:19.

Second heat, open to non-winners in event No. 1: Won by Ken Fowler, Paterson, N. J.; second, Walt Brown, New York; third, Len Perry, Madison, N. J.; fourth, Freddy Wynn, Philadelphia.

Third heat, open to non-winners in event No. 2: Won by George Wingert, Jamaica, L. I.; second, Milt Marion, St. Albans, N. Y.; third, Frank Hildebrand, New York; fourth, Frank Reynolds, Philadelphia.

50-mile feature: Won by Ben Shaw; second, Chet Gardner; third, J. J. Brown; fourth, Freddy Wynn; fifth, Milt Marion; sixth, Al Cusick.

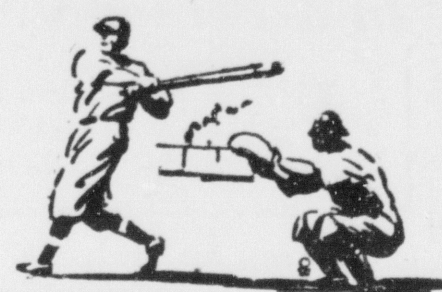

CAPTURE ESCAPED PRISONER

Charles Morrell, who escaped from the Cumberland County Jail last Wednesday, was arrested in Morrisville yesterday by Troopers Riley and Davi of the Pennsylvania State Police. Chief Albert Cooper and the State Troopers had a tip that the man might visit Morrisville and they hunted until late Sunday night for him. Yesterday he was found hiding in a clump of bushes in Manor Park. He was taken back to prison.

HULMEVILLE SECOND IN DELAWARE RIVER GROUP

Hulmeville A. A. climbed into second place in the Delaware River League yesterday afternoon, beating the Washington Crossing team, 4-2, while the Edgely Braves remained idle. Hulmeville is but a half game from first place and if successful in their remaining two games is assured of at least a tie.

"Jackie" Devlin hurled the entire game for the Blackmen and was quite effective throughout. Five hits were all the Crossing batters could make off Devlin and these five were scattered throughout the nine innings. He had two bad frames, the second and the final. In the last stanza when it appeared as if Devlin would not hold up, Manager Black began to warm up but with the sacks loaded, Devlin got the remaining two outs with one run crossing.

Hulmeville fared poor in the pinches. Nineteen Hulmevilleites were stranded on the sacks throughout their eight bats. "Bill" Carroll was very wild and issued eleven passes. In every frame, Hulmeville had two or three batters stranded when the third out was made. In the second, third and fifth inning, the sacks were loaded when the side was retired.

Hulmeville still has a game to play with Morrisville and Lambertville. Washington Crossing r h o a e

WARNER IS SENSATION IN TENNIS TOURNAMENT

Wayne Warner, Washington street youth, has proven a sensation this year with his brilliant play in the Bristol tennis tournament, now under way on the Elks courts on Buckley street. Wayne advanced to the semi-finals yesterday afternoon when he defeated Harry Dries, 6-2, 6-3.

Young Warner defeated Gene Clott on Saturday while Dries, who is developing rapidly into one of our better tennis players, beat Bud Pearson 7-5, 3-6, 6-3, in a surprise victory. In yesterday's match Warner carried off the honors with a fine exhibition.

Tonight at six o'clock Warner will play Herbert Lawrence, the present champion, with the winner meeting Nelson Green on Tuesday evening at 5:30 on the Elks Courts for the championship. The match will be best out of five sets.

Two Young Women Entertain In Honor of Miss J. Bell

Miss Ruth Richardson, 231 McKinley street, and Miss Muriel Shelden, East Circle, entertained Saturday evening at Miss Richardson's home, in honor of Miss Jessie Bell, Philadelphia, who celebrated her 17th birthday. The evening was spent playing games and dancing. Refreshments were served, and Miss Bell was presented with many gifts. Cut flowers were used for decorations.

The guests included Joseph Kane, Francis Hutchinson, Miss Jessie Bell and Miss Elvira Schmidt, Philadelphia; Lola McLaughlin, Ruth Richardson, Richard Hubbard, Muriel Shelden, Mrs. James Richardson, Joseph Snyder, Dorothy Krames, Mrs. Burtis Shelden, Joseph Whitaker, Frances Shelley, Daniel Halpin, Joseph Richardson.

The group, chaperoned by Mr. and Mrs. Shelden and Mr. and Mrs. Richardson, enjoyed a picnic and swimming party at the head of the island on Sunday.

LAWRENCE AND GREEN DEFEAT SWAYNE, BLANK

An interesting tennis match was played yesterday afternoon at Langhorne, between the Alpha Tennis Club and a team composed of prominent Bristol players.

Among the players on the Alpha team were Norman Swayne and Frank Blank, who won the doubles championship in the Trenton tennis tournament last year, while their opponents Herbert Lawrence and Nelson Green, whom they vanquished in the finals of the Trenton tournament, were among the Bristol players.

Interest in the contest at Langhorne yesterday centered around the singles matches between Lawrence and Swayne and Green and Blank, and the doubles match between Swayne and Blank, the last year's champions, and the runners-up, Lawrence and Green.

Both Bristol players were in fine form, as is shown by the score. Lawrence started things moving by defeating Swayne by the scores 6-2, 6-2; and Green following by easily outplaying Blank and winning by the scores 6-3, 6-2. In the doubles match, Lawrence and Green showed their superior skill by winning in two sets, 6-3, 6-4.

By defeating Swayne and Blank, the Bristol boys may now claim the doubles championship of Bucks County.

Nelson Green, who won the Pennsylvania State College championship in tennis a year ago, was captain of the varsity tennis team this year. The schedule this year included Pittsburgh, Carnegie Tech, Bucknell, Gettysburg, Johns Hopkins, Navy, Syracuse and Cornell, thereby completing the most successful year in college tennis. Next week, Green will leave for Long Island, where he will be in charge of tennis at the New Prospect Hotel until September.

The other players from Bristol who participated in the matches at the Alpha Tennis Club at Langhorne yesterday were Bud Pearson, Dr. Frederickicks, Wayne Warner and Wayne Fry.

Two Are Injured In Three Freak Accidents

car he was driving crashed into an iron pole on Radcliffe street, in front of St. Mark's school.

Mr. Bruden was struck in the chest by the steering wheel and cut about the face by glass from the windshield which was broken.

The accident was caused by a bee flying into the Bruden car as Mr. Bruden was driving along Radcliffe street enroute to deliver milk to a customer. Mr. Bruden attempted to knock the bee from the car with his hand, after the insect had flown dangerously near his face. In so doing, Mr. Bruden lost control of his machine. The car went up over the curb, knocked down two young trees and struck the iron pole, bending it considerably.

Mr. Bruden was taken to Wagner's hospital where X-rays are being taken to determine the extent of his injuries.

A freak accident occurred Saturday afternoon as a couple just married was being driven about town in an old fashioned barouche. The tongue of the barouche broke loose from the automobile to which it was attached, rammed through the rear of a parked automobile, going entirely through the windshield.

The newly wedded pair, Mr. and Mrs. H. Louis Moser, Jr., Hulmeville, along with Mr. and Mrs. Joseph V. O'Donnell, Bristol, their attendants, were being given a ride in an old-fashioned barouche attached to the automobile of Edward Chamberlain. The party drove through Hulmeville and came to Bristol where they were making a tour of the streets. While passing along Otter street the screws in the tongue of the barouche pulled loose and the tongue went through the rear of the body of the car of William Simons, 219 Otter street. The Simons car was parked in front of Mr. Simons' house and fortunately no one was in it at the time.

DOLINGTON TAKES GAME FROM BRISTOL NINE

DOLINGTON, June 17—Seven runs in the fourth were enough for the Dolington team to trim the patched-up Bristol A. A. team here yesterday. Final score was 8-3. The winners made a total of nine hits while the losers had eight.

"Walt" Forrest did the flinging for the Bristol team while the homesters used "Gus" Lewellen. Hagan led the Bristol hitters with three singles while F. Driggs had three safe blows for Dolington.

Hold Trenton Youth For Alleged Attack on Girl

MORRISVILLE, June 17—While walking along East Bridge street last Saturday night with two other girls, Miss Thelma Middleton, of Philadelphia, is alleged to have been attacked, badly beaten and knocked unconscious by John Kakas, 18 years, of 126 Home avenue, Trenton, according to local police. The girl suffered injuries to her eye, body and a tooth was knocked out. Kakas is under $1,000 bail on a charge of aggravated assault and battery. He will be given a hearing later before Justice of the Peace Neal Nolan. The injured girl required medical attention and she was treated by Dr. Theodore Cohen.

Miss Middleton was accompanied by Miss Elmer Bates and Miss Marie Yeager, and as they were walking along the sidewalk, Kakas and Elmer Pappy, of 24 Morris avenue, Trenton, are said to have crossed from the other side of the street and attempted to get them to go with them. The girls refused when Kakas is reported to have grabbed the Middleton girl. She attempted to push him away when he is alleged to have struck her several times in the face and then knocked her unconscious on the sidewalk. The two men ran back toward the center of Morrisville. One of the girls ran to the river bridge where she gave a description of the two men to Officer Harry Walsh. The injured girl was taken to the office of Dr. Cohen, where the police sought the two men. Finally they made an attempt to cross the bridge on their way back to Trenton. Officer Walsh recognized them from the description given and they were arrested. Pappy is held on a disorderly conduct charge.

Y. M. A. PADDLERS WIN 12 MEDALS IN RACES

Young Men's Association journeyed to Clementon, N. J., on Saturday and competed in the South Jersey Canoe Championship events winning the competition.

The crew won in both their four-man events, namely: Junior Four Doubles and Junior Four Singles.

After winning the junior four singles event the boys entered the next event which was the senior four doubles, competing against three fine crews, two from Cawawa and one from Philadelphia. Tired but still able to fight the Bristol boys took third place, defeating the Cawawa crew which last year nosed out the local boys in the Middle States Division Championships held in Washington, D. C.

In the senior one-man double blade event Henry Kornstedt battled "Dea" Holland and "Joe" VanHart for honors. Kornstedt finished third. It was the first time Kornstedt ever paddled in a one-man event.

In the novelty events Robert Hendricks took second place in the front-end race. Pairing with Fred Bell, Hendricks finished third in the two-man on the gunwales race.

"Dea" Holland, although not a member of the Y. M. A. crew won the 2 1/2 mile marathon race, finishing a half mile ahead of the nearest contestant.

In addition to this "Dea" stroked the Cawawa Senior 4-man single blade event to victory, won the senior one-man double blade event, paddled "Al" Bauers to win the South Jersey tilting championship. Holland was presented with a cup for winning the marathon.

The Y. M. A. crew—consisting of stroke, W. Hendricks; No. 2, W. K. Kornstedt; No. 3, H. Kornstedt; stern, Fred Bell—received altogether eight gold, four silver and four bronze medals for their efforts.

This same crew will compete in the following events: The Metropolitan Championships, Central Park, N. Y., July 4th; Middle States Division Championships, Washington, D. C., July 14th; American Canoeist National Championships, Princeton, N. J., July 21st.

Present Diplomas To St. Mark's Graduates

Mark's commercial school: the entire class of seniors and Miss Mary Jo McGee, a post graduate; Pupils of Equal Merit were: Angelina M. Cordisco, Mary M. Kelly, Agnes R. McCahan, Gertrude T. Roe and Ida S. Varrati; perfect attendance certificates were awarded to Charles F. Walker, Helen T. Burke, William Roarty, Regina T. Karr, Charles Kallenbach, Elizabeth Mulligan, Raymond Eckert, John Murphy, Francis Roarty, Helen Dugan, Ellen Heath, Anna McManus, Virginia Wiltshire, William Veitch, Rita McHugh, Rita Dugan, Helen Kallenbach, and Mary Ellen Mulhern.

The American Legion medals were given to Douglass Kelly and Elizabeth Mulligan, the presentation being made by Dr. James P. Lawler.

Rev. Albert L. Glass exhorted the class of graduates to go carefully upon their path in the world and bade them always remember their hours at St. Mark's. He hoped when they came to the Y in the road, they would choose the right path and finally reach the pinnacle of success.

Miss Gertrude T. Roe was salutatorian of the class of fifteen students and Miss Helen T. Burke, the valedictorian.

The donors of medals were: Arthur P. Brady, Senior Catholic Daughters, Junior Catholic Daughters and American Legion.

The program of the grade pupils, prefacing the graduation exercises included: Lullaby Land, first and second grades; We'll Never Play With You Again, third and fourth grades; Rose Song and Dance, sixth grade girls; My Own United States, sixth grade boys; Playmates, fourth and fifth grades; Sightseeing in New York, eighth grade; Minuet, eighth grade; Rosary Time in Ireland, seventh grade.

RACE DRIVER DIES OF INJURIES; HIT FENCE

Charles Hildebrand, 4537 St. Davids street, Manayunk, died in the Harrison Hospital, late Saturday night, as the result of injuries received while attempting to qualify Saturday afternoon for the auto race meet at South Langhorne yesterday afternoon.

Hildebrand crashed through the inside fence at the Langhorne Speedway while competing in the time trials. He was rushed to the hospital here where it was found his liver and lung had been punctured by some sharp-pointed object, possibly a splinter from the fence. It was the second accident of the afternoon, as Walter Keiper, Trenton, had previously plowed through a fence, but escaped with apparently slight injuries.

Keiper was treated at the scene.

Sunday School Scholars Have A Picnic at Trenton

Members of St. James Episcopal Sunday School and their families enjoyed their annual picnic Saturday afternoon at Cadwalader Park, Trenton, N. J. Games and races were enjoyed. Prizes were given to those attaining the highest number of points for sports. Miss Margaret Phipps was awarded a prize for the girl over 13 years of age having scored the most points; and for the boys, William Bell was given a prize. William McConnell won the prize for the highest number of points, boys under 13, and the girls' prize was given to Emma Sharp. In the primary department, Pearl Bell and Theodore Shire were winners. The married women's prize was awarded to Mrs. Helen Wood.

Each member enjoyed basket lunch and ice cream was furnished by the Sunday School. The committee in charge of sports: Misses Jane Rogers, Mary McAuley, Elyona Breece; Miss Adams and Horace Schmidt.

Communion Breakfast Is Served Catholic Daughters

Catholic Daughters, Bristol Court 1097, held their seventh annual communion breakfast yesterday morning at the K. of C. Home, Mrs. Andrew Moore was chairwoman, and her committee was composed of: Misses Frances McCadden, Catherine M. Dugan, Jane Lynn, Margaret McVaine, Mrs. Anna Gosline and Mrs. Neal McVaine. About 75 members attended, and they met at St. Mark's Church and attended eight o'clock mass. The Daughters received communion at this service, and Miss Gertrude Roche played the organ.

Breakfast was served at nine o'clock, by a few members of the K. of C. The tables were decorated with cut flowers and candelabras, and each member received a nosegay of flowers in the colors of purple and gold, the court colors.

During the breakfast, Mrs. Moore, vice regent, introduced the following speakers and entertainers: Chaplain, the Rev. Father Paul Baird; Miss Marie Gaffney, grand regent, Bristol Court; Mrs. Molter, district deputy, Philadelphia; Miss Bessie Rafferty, chairwoman of Junior Catholic Daughters; Mrs. Maurice Roche and Mrs. Carl Winch, who rendered vocal solos.

PERKASIE LEGION NINE RETAINS LEAGUE LEAD

Perkasie's fast stepping Legion team kept up their pace by swamping Bristol in a league fray for their fifth consecutive triumph in as many starts to hold first place by two games.

Millard Hartman was the whole show in Saturday's game, as he had the local stars in complete control with his fast ball and slow hook. He whiffed twelve batters and allowed exactly three hits over the nine inning course, passed three and hit one. He was complete master of the situation at all times and never was in any serious trouble. He well earned and deserved his victory for Bristol never had a chance, once Perkasie took the lead.

Opposed to Hartman was McGahan at the start, but later Zefferi and Grimes saw action on the mound. The three combined gave up ten blows and walked three—one each. Of the three Grimes alone was unscored on. He gave up three hits and one pass in three innings. Zefferi allowed two hits, one pass and gave up three runs although he should not have been scored on. McGahan, the starting hurler for Bristol, who suffered the set-back which was his first of the season, permitted five hits, four runs, one walk and struck out four.

Although Bristol had five errors that helped in Perkasie's scoring, they would have lost behind superb support for it wasn't their day with Hartman pitching shut-out ball. Their victory was clean cut and well earned.
